Mohamed Iliyas – Advocate, S.Radha – Advocate, Dr. G.Guagomathi – JD Health (Rtd)

Mr. Rajagopal, Advocate and State Organizer of CFI-TN & PN addressed that the sexual abuses, exploitation and tortures on children particularly girl children has increased. As per UNO, the children below 18 years comes under JJ Act and if such aged groups are out of schools, we can take into account that they are engaging in some other activities either positive or negative aspects. The child trafficking plays a vital role against the children such as about 90% of girl children are forced to engage in commercial sex work, house maids, begging, human organs and other unwanted as well as against the laws. It is meant that if the children are out of home villages, they are engaging in other activities in some other villages / urban and metropolitan cities. We have to monitor such things carefully on humanitarian basis. We have to give protection to such children too. If we are unable to protect or extend support such children, we may be helpful to avail government support to them by calling free child helpline service – 1098. In such a way, we can protect the child / children indirectly. The recent survey says that a father / parents spend just seven minutes with their children per day. This is not so good. Hence, we have to spend more time with children as we can. End of the meeting social media group also formed.
